School SEND Offer

The Leeds Local Offer: Background Information

Where has the Leeds Local Offer come from?

The Children and Families Bill has made significant changes to services for children and young people, including services for children and young people with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND).

The Bill was widely consulted on and was passed in Spring 2014. It was implemented from September 2014. The new Act was accompanied by a new Code of Practice which gave guidance on how local authorities and their partners, including schools, should implement the new laws.

In brief the Bill achieved the following in terms of SEND:

- Provided a new approach to assessment and care planning, with existing statements of SEND replaced with joint multi-agency Education, Health and Care Plans (EHCP)
- Gave more personalisation of services, allowing families with the new EHCP to have more input into decisions about which services they access and how they are paid for. EHCPs will include a 'personal budget' and families will be included in decision about how this is spent. This could include families receiving the budget themselves through a 'direct payment' and spending it on services of their choice.
- Provided better information about what services are available and how families can access them, published in a 'Local Offer' of information. This will empower families to know what they are entitled to access and make choices to meet their individual needs.

Each school is required to publish a Local Offer which describes how it will support children with SEND.

Ethos

At Farsley Farfield Primary School we have an inclusive ethos with high expectations for all our pupils – we expect every child in our school to reach their full potential.

All pupils at Farsley Farfield Primary School are entitled to access quality first teaching and a broad, balanced and relevant curriculum whatever their individual needs.

All staff are responsible for the early identification, assessment, monitoring, teaching and inclusion of pupils with SEND as an integral part of raising standards.

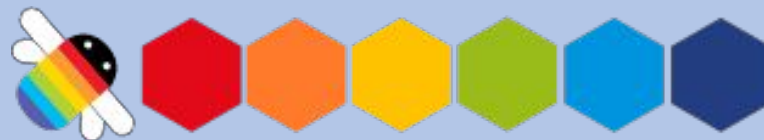

Leadership

The school is effective at leading on SEND. The SENDCO has had 19 years' experience of the role and coordinates the SEND provision across both sites at Farsley Farfield. The Learning Mentors also work closely with the SENDCO to help deliver effective provision for our pupils with SEND across school.

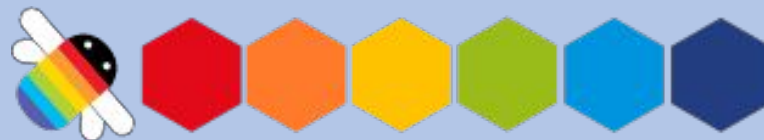

We monitor, review and evaluate our SEND provision every term. Termly SEND meetings are held with parents to review the child's Individual Provision Map and summaries of these meetings are recorded. The SEND register is updated as and when required. Annual Reviews are held, in line with statutory guidance, for children with Education Health and Care Plans (EHCP).

Annual reports are shared with the Governing Body showing what provision looks like across school and how children with SEND are performing in school. The governing body includes expertise around SEND and is able to promote effective support and challenge in this area.

Budget

We receive funding for children with SEND through the Funding For Inclusion framework led by Leeds City Council. Some of this supports children with a higher level of adult support during the day. Other children might be supported in small groups for set times in the day or to deliver specific target work, for example to deliver a Speech Language Therapy programme. Additional resources may also be purchased

Curriculum, teaching and learning

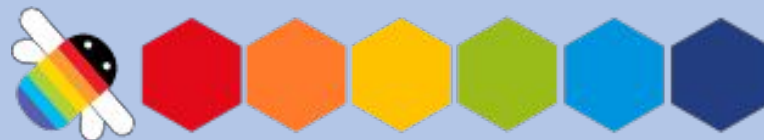

We have an appropriate curriculum that meets the specific needs of our pupils. It is designed to engage and excite our pupils so that all pupils are able to access the lessons they receive. We have effective teaching across school and teachers are supported in class with additional teaching assistants – these might work with small groups or 1:1 depending on the content of the lesson and the needs of the class. Individual Provision Maps are regularly reviewed and the SEND Team will provide support with these as required. We access appropriate resources (including the use of ICT) to support our pupils. We provide a wide range of interventions including pastoral support to aid the social, emotional and mental health of our pupils with SEND. We have fantastic outdoor school grounds and access to sensory rooms. Farsley Farfield has good transition arrangements in place across all year groups from Reception to Y6, then starting high school. We value the importance of teaching our SEND children life skills ready to be able to lead a more independent lifestyle as they become older.

Assessment

Assessment is on-going and takes place within every lesson. More formal assessments take place every half term. Quality First Teaching is a minimum expectation in every lesson, with work differentiated to meet the needs of all children. However, some children need additional support and interventions and these are planned for on an individual or small group basis.

Children working below national expectations will be assessed using Progression Steps which provides evidence of small steps of progress and are reported as a percentage at the end of each term. In EYFS the Development Journal is used to assess the small steps of progress children make across a range of areas.

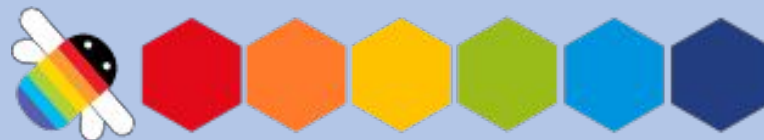

Training

All staff are supported to gain basic awareness of inclusion issues. We arrange regular whole school training for example: Level 2 Autism Awareness, ADHD Awareness, Dyslexia Awareness, attachment issues and Speech and Language Therapy training.

Staff working directly with children and young people with SEND will have, or will be supported to develop, enhanced skills to meet particular types of need.

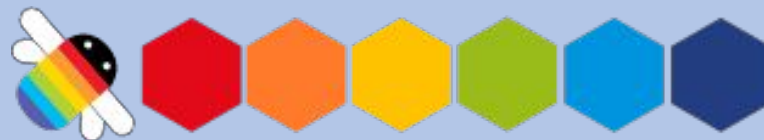

Staff who wish to gain specialist level skills and knowledge are supported and encouraged to do so. For example, we have three Lead Practitioners in Autism.

Partnerships

We have regular engagement with teams in the local authority including the Educational Psychology Team and the SEN and Inclusion Team (SENIT). We work in partnership with other agencies including Speech and Language Therapy Services, school nurses, Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services (CAMHS), Specialist Training in Autism and Raising Standards (STARS), Deaf and Hearing Impaired Team (DAHIT), Visually Impaired Team (VIT) and Leeds SEND Information Advice Support Service (SENDIASS).

We also access support in our local area and cluster. For example: family outreach workers, guidance and support (through our Children's Centre), TSLs (targeted services leaders), and AIPs (Area Inclusion Partnerships).

Frequently Asked Questions

What do I do if I think my child may have special educational needs?

You would need to speak to your child's class teacher or the SENDCO. We would use the expertise and resources we have in school, in the first instance, to support your child. If we felt further support would be needed, a referral to the SEND and Inclusion Team could be made. We will work collaboratively with you throughout this process.

How will school support my child?

School will support your child in a number of ways. We have highly skilled teachers, teaching assistants, learning mentors and SENDCO who have received training in different areas of SEND.

Admission arrangements for children with SEND may require extra conversations with the SENDCO and head teacher to ensure you are happy with the provision and support we can offer your child. We work hard with parents/ carers before your child starts at Farsley Farfield to ensure we understand their strengths and differences and how we can best meet their needs when they attend our school. The admission process and paperwork is the same for every child unless they have an Educational Health Care Plan and then our school would be named on the plan and the local authority will consult with us on your behalf.

There are a number of people who could work with your child, depending on the child's needs. It could be a learning mentor to support with social, emotional and mental health needs. It could be a teaching assistant to deliver a speech and language programme or some additional support with your child's Maths and English by using a specific intervention or the SENDCO to conduct assessments or deliver packages of support.

The education programme would be planned by the class teacher and any other adults involved with the child. This would also be shared with the parents by the class teacher. The SENDCO is responsible for supporting the class teacher in this process and ensuring that the provision meets the needs of the pupils.

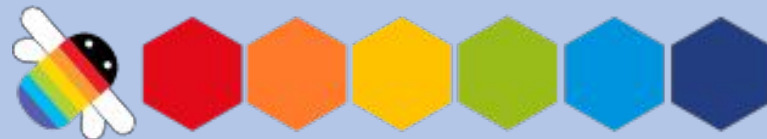

How will the curriculum be matched to my child's needs?

The curriculum would be matched to your child's needs through, in the first instance, Quality First Teaching (Classroom practice that emphasises high quality, inclusive teaching for all pupils in a class) and appropriate differentiation. Certain resources might be allocated to support your child throughout the day e.g. a visual timetable, use of IT tools. Additional interventions might be appropriate – this might be 1:1 or small group work.

How will I know how well my child is doing and how will you help me support my child's learning?

As well as the school's usual reporting arrangements, there are additional times to discuss your child's progress throughout the academic year. These are arranged through formal termly meetings with the class teacher and parents to discuss the Individual Provision Map. The meetings are organised at the end of each term by the SENDCO who writes to every parent of children with SEND inviting them to the meeting. In these meetings you will be able to discuss: the provision that has been put in place for your child; the progress your child is making; and think about next steps for your child's development – this will include any additional work that you can do at home. The class teachers will make a record of the meeting and summarise these details to you. These records are then sent to the SENDCO and parents.

You can, of course, contact anyone in school at any time in the school year if you are at all concerned or want an update on the progress of your child.

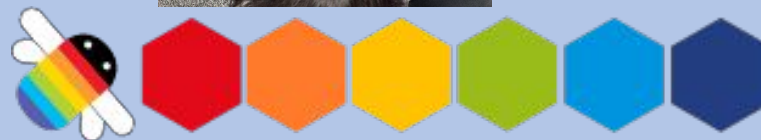

What support will there be for my child's overall well-being?

We place your child's well-being at the centre of our school. The SENDCO and Learning Mentors work very closely with parents and staff in school. Our curriculum has a strong PSHE emphasis; we work on growth mindset and we have whole school weekly ethos statements where equality and diversity are celebrated.

Our school grounds are also designed to enhance your child's learning and well-being – we have a high-quality outdoor play environment including an exciting outdoor play area for the foundation stage, fixed play equipment and a farm, with chickens, which the children feed and collect eggs from.

We have an area called the Woodlands Room, which has been designed to support children's social, emotional and mental health needs by delivering relaxation sessions, life skills and targeted interventions. Within this area is a sensory room (The Rainbow Room) where children have the opportunity to experience equipment such as a bubble tube and sensory toys. Our specially trained school dog (Zoey) spends two days a week working with children to enhance their wellbeing and happiness.

We have all the appropriate safeguarding policies and practices in place to ensure your child feels safe and happy at school.

What specialist services and expertise are available or accessed by the school?

In school, our staff can offer a huge variety of support through the different expertise and specialist training that we have had. We access a number of specialist services (see Partnerships slide above) and this provides school with expert advice and allows us to develop provision to support the children. We have a trained speech and language therapist in school one day every week to offer expert support.

What training are the staff supporting children with SEND having/had?

Training is on-going and revisited on a regular basis. Staff have been trained to support children with a range of different special needs for example dyslexia, autism, ADHD, down syndrome, speech and language differences, anxiety, foetal alcohol spectrum disorder, trauma and attachment, etc.

Staff who support children with SEND are also trained in the interventions they deliver. If we feel we need further support with our training, we would make a referral to another service to provide this.

How will my child be included in activities outside the classroom?

All children take part in activities and school trips. Planning and consultation with parents/carers would ensure all the appropriate support and resources are in place so that every child can access what the school has to offer.

How accessible is the school?

Our school has disabled access and facilities, eg; Care suites, lifts and ramps. If additional facilities and equipment is needed, we would seek support and advice from the Local Authority to ensure we increase the extent to which disabled pupils can take advantage of the facilities and services offered.

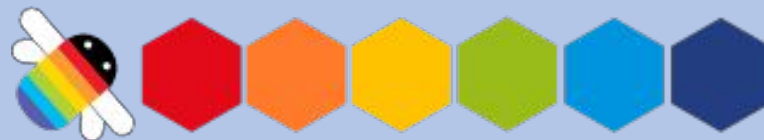

How will the school help my child on transfer to the next phase of education?

Transition arrangements and plans would be put in place in good time (this might be at an Annual Review or a termly review meeting) and the parents/carers and the child would be fully involved in the process. Where appropriate, high schools will be invited to review meetings in Year 6 and additional pre-visits arranged. During the extra visits, children can collect photos and information about their new school or class and transition booklets are created so the children can share them with their families before the transition to a new class or school.

How are the school's resources/funding allocated and matched to children's needs?

If your child meets the criteria for additional support through funding, the SENDCO would apply for this. Funding For Inclusion (FFI) is currently paid directly into the school budget and is used to support children with SEND. Funding is usually used to pay for staffing who will be working with your child and delivering interventions to meet their additional needs.

Parents of children with an EHCP may request a personal budget and have more autonomy on how funding is spent to support their child.

How are parents involved in the school and how can I be involved?

It is very important that parents are actively involved in supporting their children. This would be through attending Termly meetings and working on next steps which are set at these meetings. We can help support parents increasing their knowledge and understanding of their child's SEND.

If you want to become involved in school in any way then please ask – you are always welcome!

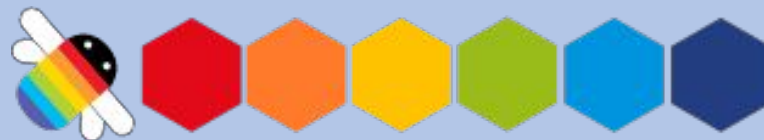

What are the complaints procedures in respect of SEND?

If you feel there is a problem with any aspect of your child's education at Farsley Farfield, you should come and talk the issues through with the class teacher, SENDCO or head teacher first. If you feel you need to make a formal complaint about the school, please refer to the Complaints Policy on the school website:

<https://www.farsleyfarfield.org.uk/wp-content/uploads/2021/06/FFPS-Complaints-policy-and-procedures-updated-Feb-2019.pdf>

Please note that SENDIASS can support families with any complaints they have about the school.
